- 1. Tidy the Data
- 2. Address Missingness
- 3. Impute Missing Values

Although at first glance it appears that many values have very high missingness, there are several instances in which “missing” data may actually be a negative response. For example, `taxdelinquencyflag` is missing for 98.02% of observations, when in reality these are probably observations in which there has not been a tax delinquency flag. Therefore, I will not exclude tax delinquency tag or year based on missingness, but will impute the missing values for tax delinquency tag as negative responses.
